Our roll of honour remembrance boards can serve as a memorial that perpetuates the memory of and pays tribute to those who have died in war and will not be forgotten. Remembrance is a significant word in itself but is more vividly associated by most us with The Great War 1914-18 and The Second World War 1939-45 through the ceremony and observance of Remembrance Day and Remembrance Sunday.

We are proud to host this Roll of Honour to remember those who have lost their lives while in service with the UK's ambulance services. While every care has been taken to compile this community and ambulance staff in memoriam list, we are reliant on the information and/or photos provided to us by employer organisations and the loved ones of those that have passed away.

As the Great War progressed and the anniversaries of the Fallen came and went, the local newspaper "In Memoriam" and, later, dedicated "Roll of Honour" columns were increasingly filled with moving tributes to lost husbands, sons, fathers, brothers and fianc\u00e9es. Although less frequent in late 1915 and throughout 1916, this phenomenon became particularly notable from 1917 onwards and endured in the years beyond the end of the conflict.

Rolls of honour in memoriam don't have to be sombre in tone and colour. This golden oak with Florentine gold lettering is vibrant as were the lives of those who gave them in conflict. The Royal Scots have paid fitting tribute to the memory of fallen comrades who died during the recent wars in Iraq and Afghanistan.

The Roll of Honour board remnant is housed at New Brighton Historical Society Museum (corner Hardy and Beresford Streets), as well as a black and white photograph of the board. The report of the unveiling in the Star (9 October 1915, Page 11) described the roll as: the work of Mr A. G. Munns, is inscribed "Roll of Honour, ex-pupils, 1914," and is beautifully done in kauri, the lettering, done by Mr Price, being of gold, on a black background.
